Choosing your lifejacket

Choose It!

Your body type, swim skills, boating activity and environment need to be considered. A device that fits you snugly and comfortably and that you will want to wear is a good choice.

Wearing your lifejacket

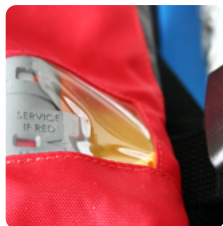

Wear It!

A fall overboard or capsizing can happen easily in a small boat. It is not the same experience as going swimming. Even good swimmers in fair weather can be disoriented, hurt and gasping for a breath. There is no time to get the lifejacket on.

Caring for your lifejacket

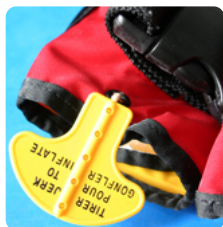

Use It!

Drying properly and keeping it clean will maintain your device in wearable condition. Regular checking (for wear and tear) and servicing (inflatables) is important.
